

June 9, 2007

I like knowing that I'm connected to artists all over the world through the ideas and concerns we're addressing in our work. I like knowing that in addition to my immediate geographic community, I have another with all of you. And because we live in a technological moment that allows for it, I'm proposing a small gesture that will link us all briefly as we work in all of our varied locations.

Download the five songs listed below and listen to them in your studio or anywhere you think about your art. When you listen to them, know that you're listening to five specific, hand-picked songs that are reaching like-minded artists all over the place.

The Flaming Lips – Do You Realize

Led Zeppelin – Tangerine

U2 – Spanish Eyes

Lena Horne – My Funny Valentine

Gnarls Barkley – The Last Time

Enjoy the music. I'll be thinking of you!

Yours,
Lynne Harlow